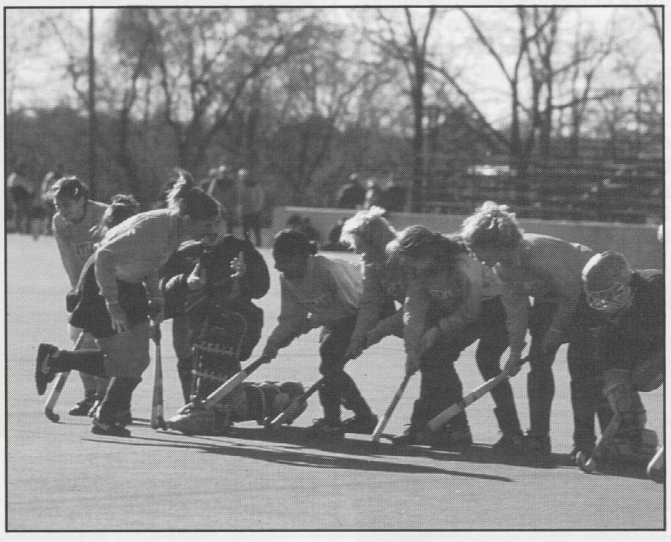
A Salute To The 1993 National Champions

Getting Ready for you — Maryland Field Hockey 1994



The knowledge and experience of National Champions combine forces with the enthusiastic, young talent of the new recruit class to energize the 1994 field hockey team.

The returning starters for the Terrapins, with the skills of several All-Americans, use of a very experienced bench and the freshness of the incoming freshmen will fill the shoes of the 6 graduated seniors.

Laura Harmon and Irene Horvat, the senior All-Americans, construct an Iron Curtain on defense that has halted offenses for three years. As goalkeeper, Horvat led the ACC in goals against average and in shutouts. Horvat's statistics and awards only tell part of the story. Her strong leadership, skills as a goalkeeper and her incredible clearing ability place her as one of the most respected players in the nation. She has also excelled in the classroom with a 3.6 GPA this spring.

Senior sweeper Laura Harmon works on both offense and defense to help control the tempo of each game. Harmon placed second in the ACC in 1993 in points scored (27) with 11 goals and 5 assists. Harmon proved her defensive ability by scoring 5 defensive saves this past season. Harmon will continue to play hard on all sides of the field.

Junior Katie Kauffman, Maryland's most persistent and aggressive defender, will help lead the efforts of this year's field hockey team. As the youngest member of the 1994 U.S. National Team, Kauffman was chosen as the alternate to the 1994 U.S. World Cup Team which won the Bronze medal. Look for Kauffman to play with confidence and vigor.

Marlo Makela's proficiency and expertise make her a very valuable member of the midfield. Her individual stick skills are among the finest of the Terps' players. Makela has earned an important place on the team, starting in 3 games and playing in 21 games this past season.

Returning midfielders and backfielders, junior Cheryl Bollenbacher and sophomore Tricia Burdt, will also contribute to the defense. Their improvements over the spring and summer will make them valuable players. Bollenbacher's bubbly personality motivates both on and off the field. The techniques which Burdt has refined as a member of the U.S. Training Squad will give her an advantage over competitors.

Kauffman and sophomore Lori Vile also pose threats on offense. Among the leaders in points and goals scored in the ACC, Vile received the following awards: 1993 ACC Rookie of the Year, first team Mid-Atlantic Regional All-American, third-team CFHCA All-American. She gained national exposure last year by adding to the scoring punch of the National Champions. With a great move to the goal, Vile will remain a threat to defenders.

With a fiery, quick touch near the goal, junior forward Kristen Ketchum is dangerous on offense. Because of her fighting spirit, she brings an extra spark to the team. Ketchum played in 18 games last season and helped the Terps edge James Madison (3-2) with her goal. Her fervent and speedy play provides her an edge in front of the goal.

Expect to see more playing time this season from sophomore forward Megan Callahan. Her ability and eagerness make her an undeniable front line force.

A young, well-rounded and enthusiastic group of recruits will immediately take part in 1994 field hockey action. Sarah Rosenwinkel, an intense freshman forward, should contribute early to the team. Sara Salam, the sister of All-American Sabrina Salam, will travel from Germany to join the Terps. Maryland freshmen Christine DeBow and Nadine Bennett will also be ready to play and work as members of this year's team.

Maryland field hockey fans can expect to see the same competitive spirit that Coach Missy Meharg and her team exhibit each year. The energetic and experienced 1994 field hockey team will produce another winning and enticing season.

Head Coach, "Missy" Meharg

Margaret "Missy" Meharg

Head Coach

Winners attract winners. In the past six seasons as Maryland's field hockey head coach, Missy Meharg and her teams have achieved almost every accomplishment at the Division I level. Most recently, Meharg guided her players to the 1993 National Championship crown.

During her tenure, Meharg has coached her teams to six winning seasons. The Terps have travelled to the NCAA Tournament in five of those seasons, including the NCAA National Semifinals in 1991 and the National Championship in 1993. Meharg also led the Terps to the 1992 Atlantic Coast Conference Championship.

Meharg was selected by her peers last year as 1993 CFHCA Division I Coach of the Year. This is the second time Meharg has received this honor, her first being in 1991. Last season, Meharg received Mid-Atlantic Regional Coach of the Year honors for the fourth consecutive year.

Meharg's extensive playing career culminated in 1991 after seven years of international competition as a member of the U.S. team. The team participated in the Pan American Games and the Olympic Qualifying Tournament in New Zealand for the 1992 Olympic Games in Barcelona, Spain. Meharg was also the first alternate to the 1988 Olympic Team in Seoul, South Korea and competed in the 1986 World Championships.

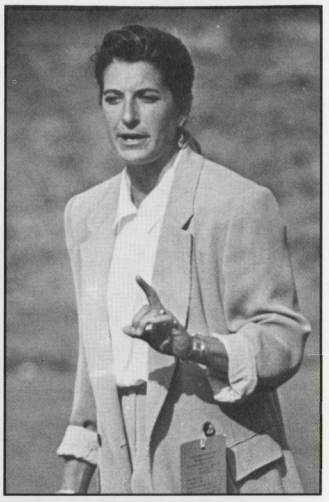
Meharg began her coaching career at Maryland as the graduate assistant for three years under Dr. Suzanne Tyler. She accepted the position of head coach in 1988.

Meharg graduated from the University of Delaware in 1985 with a Bachelor of Science in Physical Education and received a Masters of Arts in Sports Psychology from the University of Maryland in 1989. A four-year letterwinner in both field hockey and lacrosse, Meharg earned All-American honors in both sports as a junior and senior.

When not absorbed in coaching, Meharg actively explores other fields. Recently, she was the color commentator for the 1993 and 1994 NCAA Women's Lacrosse and 1992 NCAA Field Hockey Championships. Meharg was also the color commentator for TCJ Productions in covering the Intercontinental Field Hockey Cup in Philadelphia in 1993.

Meharg has been actively involved with the United States National Team since December 1993. As the assistant U.S. coach, Meharg helped coach the U.S. team to a bronze medal in the 1994 Women's World Cup in Dublin, Ireland, this past summer.

"I believe in self-accountability in the classroom and on the field. Our team goal is to be committed to hard work, while keeping it fun. Focus on the 'now,' and take advantage of every opportunity."



Coach Meharg gives some last minute advice before the Championship game.

Q and A with the Coach

What are your personal goals as a coach?

"That each student-athlete meet their goals through the committment, success and tradition of our program. These goals may be capturing conference championships and making yearly NCAA appearances, towards another NCAA championship. But, most importantly, my goal is to always find a way for each player to have fun while being successful."

Why are academics so important to your program?

" A lot can be said for those student athletes who do very well in the classroom. If you can try to instill personal growth, organization and commitment to detail needed on the field, then they will succeed in the classroom."

What are your feelings on winning the 1993 National Championship?

" The biggest goal for any NCAA coach in any sport, would be to win a National Championship. So, my feeling is probably exhilaration. I think it was the most satisfying team that I have ever worked with, and that's not always true of a National Championship team. They were the most synergistic and caring group of young women that I have ever coached."

What are your feelings on this team? Their personality? Their aspirations?

" It is going to be interesting working with a whole younger level of student athletes, and I am really looking forward to it. It is going to be an incredible challenge, and the student athletes know this too. I know they are very proud of the University of Maryland and of the field hockey program. From what I have seen from their hard work this spring with Assistant Coach Michelle Brennan and Evan Marcus in conditioning, they want to keep up the tradition."

Why would you choose Maryland if you were a student athlete?

" The number one reason that I would choose the University of Maryland at College Park would be the diversity in the area. I would also choose Maryland because of my opportunities to represent the school and to represent the ACC. Academically speaking, I think Maryland has some of the top programs in the nation in state institutions. There are a lot of wonderful combinations here, and it is a very distinct place."

How would you characterize your coaching style?

"It depends a lot on the people that you are working with. What is comfortable for me is a non-authoritative style in order to instill self-reliance in the players. I want to let the student athletes explore and find solutions so that they can be successful on their own. In terms of the game of field hockey, I am a real fundamentalist. I enjoy picking the game apart strategically and tactically."

The Friends of Maryland Field Hockey group is a part of the Maryland tradition. Why are they important in building a field hockey family?

"The Friends of Maryland Field Hockey spend a lot of time coming out and watching us play, participating in our program both physically and financially. It is really important to continue keeping them informed with newsletters and parties every spring and that sort of communication."

As head coach, you are the leader; however, you also need support staff. How does your support staff contribute to your program ?

"I believe that your coaching staff and the people that you work around are as important as your athletes. I have been extremely successful here in getting some unbelievable assistant coaches. With the athletes, the support staff holds a significant amount of responsibility for the program."

Michele Brennan

Assistant Coach

Michele Brennan begins her first year as the full-time assistant coach and her second year with the Maryland program. Brennan graduated from Penn State University in 1992 with a Bachelor of Arts in Speech Communications and a minor in business. She played field hockey as their goalkeeper from 1988 to 1991. Brennan and the Nittany Lions appeared in the Final Four in 1990 and 1991, and in 1991, she was selected to the Final Four All-Tournament Team.

At Penn State, Brennan was an Academic All-American in 1991 (1st team) and 1990 (2nd team). She also holds the Penn State career shutout record of 39.5.

Brennan was a National Team member in December of 1991 but never returned due to a broken leg. In 1992, she was an assistant coach with the Nittany Lions.

This past fall, Brennan was Maryland's head goalie coach, implementing goalie and defensive skills and techniques on the team. Brennan has also been the head goalie coach for the Futures Program for the past three years.

In addition to coaching, Brennan served as an academic proctor for the Start Fast Program at Maryland, a tutoring program for students.

"It is both an honor and a pleasure to be a part of Maryland's winning tradition. I firmly believe that the opportunities this institution provides the student athletes are limitless. I look forward to being part of Maryland's commitment to excellence."

Brennan has just been named the Regional Administrative Director of the USFHA Futures Program for the Chesapeake region. Maryland will be a site for next year's competition because of its new astroturf field.

This year, Brennan is looking forward to coaching tactics and strategy to the field players. She will have a direct impact on the entire team.

Jon O'Haire

Assistant Coach

Jon O'Haire joins the staff for his first year as an assistant coach at Maryland. O'Haire comes to the university with vast playing and coaching experience. O'Haire received his Bachelor's degree in English from the University of New York at Stony Brook and his Master's degree in Education from American University.

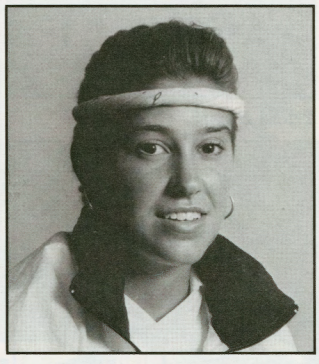
For the past 13 years, O'Haire has been a goalkeeper for the U.S. Men's National Field Hockey Team and has appeared in 48 International Test Matches. He recently competed in the Midlands Five-Nation Indoor Tournament in Birmingham, England, where his team received the bronze medal.

O'Haire has competed in four U.S. Olympic Sports Festivals, 1993, 1991, 1990, and 1987. The teams earned three silver medals and one gold medal in 1987.

In 1992, O'Haire was selected as a member of the U.S. Summer Olympic Qualifying Team in Auckland, New Zealand. He was also a member of the 1984 U.S. Summer Olympic Squad and the 1983 Pan American Team.

This past year, O'Haire was the assistant coach and manager for the U.S. Under-18 Men's National Team.

O'Haire was the assistant coach at American University from 1988 to 1992 where the team competed with great success. He was also the head goalkeeper coach for the USFHA Futures Program Mid-Atlantic Region.



Amy Schubert

Assistant Coach

After an outstanding playing career at the University of Maryland, Amy Schubert will join the field hockey coaching staff. As co-captain, Schubert led the 1993 team to the National Championship.

She has won numerous awards, including 1993 Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year and 1993 ACC All-Tournament Most Valuable Player. Schubert was selected as a 1993 CFHCA First Team All-American and has been a First Team Mid-Atlantic Regional All-American for three years. This past season, Schubert led the Terrapins and ranked second in the ACC in assists.

This summer, Schubert competed for the U.S. National Team and helped the team win a bronze medal in the 1994 Women's World Cup in Dublin, Ireland.

A 1994 graduate, Schubert did extremely well academically and received a degree in nursing.

North Carolina won the Atlantic Coast Conference championship, but Maryland yesterday claimed the prize treasure — the NCAA Division I field hockey championship.

Maryland, ranked second nationally, toppled No. 4 North Carolina, 2-1 (3-0 strokes), in an all-ACC national final before 1,733 at the Rutgers Stadium Complex in Piscataway.

The two national powers appear destined to keep battling time and time again for postseason riches. Maryland defeated North Carolina, 2-1, to garner its first national trophy in 1987.

Two weeks ago, the squads squared off for the ACC championship. North Carolina emerged victorious, 2-0, at Wake Forest. Maryland had won the regular-season encounter, thrashing the Tar Heels, 4-1, in College Park, Md.

"Whenever you play another ACC team, and certainly against Carolina, you have to expect a tough game," said Maryland coach Missy Meharg, an assistant coach at Maryland when the Terps won the '87 title. "North Carolina is probably the most tournament-tough team in the nation.

"Historically speaking, every other competition goes to the other team. When we won nationals in '87, we had lost in the ACC. It's a good rivalry; it's a good competitive feeling. And I had a big feeling it would go to the strokes."

North Carolina (16-2-3) had prevailed in the tie-breaker in the national semifinals, beating No. 1 Penn State, 2-1 (3-0 stokes), to give coach Karen Shelton the 200th victory of her career. However, North Carolina could not generate the same explosiveness against Maryland goalkeeper Irene Horvat, who played brilliantly. With the score tied, 1-1, after two 15-minute sudden-death overtimes, the tie-breaker began. Maryland's first three strokers fired in hard flicks to seal the victory. Maureen Scott hit the upper left corner, Laura Harmon placed the ball in the lower corner and Tara Everly ripped a shot into the upper left for Maryland.

Horvat, who spent most of the day idle and had to make only one save, played superbly in the tie-breaker.

"I just concentrate on the ball," said Horvat, who is from Victoria, Australia. "The penalty strokes are an isolated situation so you always get that opportunity to prepare for it. Strokes are easier in that sense than not seeing the ball and getting a shot out of nowhere."

"It's very difficult to go to strokes two days in a row," admitted Shelton. "I should have been more creative. I went with the same lineup two days in a row. It was poor planning on my part. When it comes down to strokes, it could go to either team.

"Looking at the stats, Maryland outplayed us. We had to play outstanding defense. Otherwise, Maryland would have scored two or three goals on us. I said earlier in the season that Maryland was my pick to win the championship."

Maryland, when it went to its small ball game of stick-to-stick passing, dominated the midfield and the scoring circles, amassing a 17-3 advantage in shots and a holding a 7-3 gap in corners.

Maryland employed its precision passing to convert its first corner of the game to grab a 1-0 edge with 8:17 gone in the first half. Amy Schubert stick-stopped the inbound pass and hit Scott with a flat pass. Scott blasted a shot from 20 yards out that North Carolina keeper Peggy Storrar stopped. Sabrina Salam collected the rebound and banged it into the left side.

Seven minutes later, North Carolina evened the scored when Blizzard fired an 18-yarder into the right side.

North Carolina, one of the best defensive teams in the nation, slipped back into a defensive posture, fending off a flurry of offense by Maryland for the remainder of the game and into the two extra sessions to force the tie-breaker.

"In the first half, we capitalized, but we weren't playing with any heart," said Meharg, the 1993 ACC Coach of the Year. "We were just begging for half-time. In the second half and in the overtimes, Maryland played with all the soul and heart that it had.

It was the third time that North Carolina was denied a title. Beside losing to Maryland in the '87 championship, the Tar Heels lost in the 1990 and '91 title games, both times to Old Dominion.

"I know for coach Shelton and for myself it's a real honor to be representing the ACC as the final two teams in the nation," said Meharg. "As a coach, professionally, it's your No. 1 goal to find a way to win a national championship. It starts with recruiting and it ends with creating equality on the field so that everyone feels like she's made a positive impact."

THE NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

The Terps won their second National Championship in Maryland Field Hockey history this season, defeating North Carolina, 2-1, after two overtimes and a penalty stroke-off. In the semifinal game, the Terps shutout the Iowa Hawkeyes, 1-0. Maryland's first National Championship was in 1987.

TOP OF THE TOP

The Terrapins were ranked second in the final Division I Field Hockey poll. This is the Terps' highest ranking this season and Maryland's best since 1991 when the team finished third in the final poll.

STREAK

The Terps' 14 game winning streak ended in the finals of the ACC Tournament against North Carolina. The streak had been active since September 24. The run included wins over seven top twenty teams — Virginia, North Carolina, Rutgers, James Madison, Old Dominion, Pennsylvania and Temple.

- The streak of 15 games set a new Maryland team record.

COACH OF THE YEAR

Head Coach Missy Meharg was honored by her peers as 1993 Division I National Coach of the Year for taking the Terps to the National Championship. Meharg was also named 1993 ACC Coach of the Year for guiding the Terrapins to an undefeated season in the conference and 21-3 overall record. For the past three seasons, Meharg was the Mid-Atlantic Regional Coach of the Year.

- In 1991, she was named Division I National Coach of the Year.
- Her career record is currently 86-38-7.

TERRAPIN ALL-AMERICANS

Six Terp players were named to the College Field Hockey Coaches' Association Division I All-American Teams this year. They were:

- Amy Schubert, First Team
- Sabrina Salam, First Team
- Laura Harmon, Second Team
- Irene Horvat, Second Team
- Maureen Scott, Third Team
- Lori Vile, Third Team

Eight Maryland players were selected to the Mid-Atlantic Regional All-American Team. They were:

- Amy Schubert, First Team
- Sabrina Salam, First Team
- Irene Horvat, First Team
- Laura Harmon, First Team
- Maureen Scott, First Team
- Lori Vile, First Team
- Elissa Beckman, Second Team
- Tara Everly, Second Team

NCAA ALL-TOURNAMENT TEAM

Five Terps were named to the NCAA All-Tournament team:

- Laura Harmon
- Shannon Petrick
- Sabrina Salam
- Amy Schubert
- Irene Horvat

ACC ACCOLADES

Senior Amy Schubert received the ACC's highest honor, 1993 ACC Player of the Year. Teammates junior Laura Harmon, graduate student Sabrina Salam, senior Maureen Scott and freshman Lori Vile join Schubert on the All-ACC team.

At the ACC Tournament, conference coaches honored Amy Schubert as the tournament MVP. Josephine Blauw, Shannon Petrick, Katie Kauffman, Sabrina Salam and Maureen Scott were also named to the All-Tournament team.

ROOKIE OF THE YEAR

Freshman Lori Vile, a Tabernacle, N.J. native, was voted ACC Rookie of the Year by conference coaches. Vile is second on the Terrapin team in goals scored with 12.

HOME FIELD ADVANTAGE

The Terps were not only undefeated at home (10-0), but only allowed three opponent goals while on their own turf. Goals were given up to North Carolina, Old Dominion and Massachusetts.

THE UNIVERSITY AT COLLEGE PARK — Choosing Quality

These are great days at the University of Maryland at College Park. The university, through an act of the state legislature, has been designated officially as the state's flagship campus with a mandate to become one of the nation's leading public universities. The effect of the mandate is for individuals from all corners of the university to aspire toward excellence, to think great thoughts and to become immersed in an educational enterprise of the highest caliber. There is an unmistakable momentum for change and a sense of heightened expectation at College Park- Maryland is choosing quality.

The faculty has enthusiastically endorsed a new general education program that began in the fall of 1990. It is a blueprint for comprehensive changes in the undergraduate experience at Maryland. The campus is reducing its undergraduate enrollment, improving the ratio between faculty and students, raising admissions standards, revamping the University Honors Program, strengthening the advising system, supporting expanded undergraduate research and encouraging innovations in teaching.

A new language house has opened in which student residents have direct satellite access to foreign language television broadcasts from the USSR, Latin America, Italy and Japan, and where, in a total immersion setting, residents have pledged to speak their chosen language at all times. A new honors house, a stimulating living and learning center for undergraduates taking part in the University Honors Program, opened in 1992. An international house, a living-learning environment that will meet the growing needs of the diverse international population on campus, opened in 1991 as the Dorchester House.

We invite you to take a closer look at the University of Maryland, its extensive academic programs, faculty, research facilities, student activities, support services, resources and opportunities. See for yourself the number of different ways in which Maryland is choosing quality.

Locale

The state of Maryland is unrivaled in its scenic beauty, its rich heritage, and its wealth of educational, recreational, and cultural opportunities. From the mountain passes of Garrett County in the West, to the sand dunes of Assateague Island on the Eastern Shore, and the cosmopolitan excitement of Baltimore and Washington, D.C., there is an unparalleled variety of experiences and resources available to students at the University.

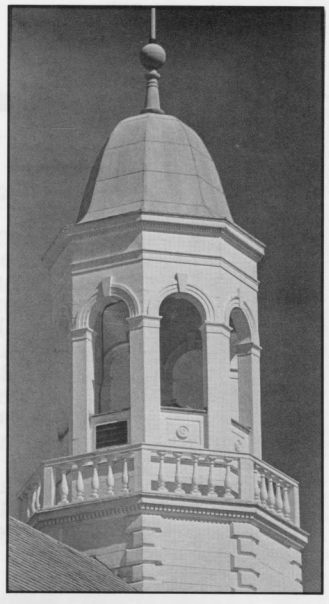
Nine miles from the nation's capital, the University of Maryland at College Park is within easy reach of the country's best research facilities. The Library of Congress, the National Archives, the Smithsonian Institution and the National Libraries of Agriculture and Medicine are among the many unique resources in the area.

In addition to traditional scholarly resources, the campus is surrounded by the dynamic cultural opportunities that only a major metropolitan area can provide. The Kennedy Center alone houses the National Symphony Orchestra, five performance stages, an opera company, and the American Film Institute. In Baltimore, one of the great ports of the world, a recent and remarkable renaissance has added the glistening touch of office towers and hotels to the quaint shops and ethnic restaurants of its many colorful neighborhoods. Harborplace and the National Aquarium anchor the Inner Harbor, which has become a cultural magnet for thousands of tourists each year.

The Chesapeake Bay accounts for nearly 20 percent of Maryland's acreage, and is a focal point for the serious study of estuarine ecology as well as a recreational treasure. It is the source of Maryland's famed crabs and other seafood specialties, and a refuge for many species of water fowl.

Not far from any point in the state is evidence of the burgeoning development which has made Maryland a model for economic growth and fiscal health. High tech, engineering, and service industries thrive in proximity to the campus, offering a wide spectrum of opportunities for work study or internships for students and career choices for graduates.

The University of Maryland at College Park, as the flagship campus of the state's higher education system, is a vital part of Maryland's current prosperity and its vision for the future. For students here, the state offers a bounteous extension to the campus' own wealth of opportunity.



Choosing by the numbers

3 miles are all that separate a College Park student from Washington, D.C. The Washington monument is less than 10 miles away.

24 flavors of our own homemade ice cream, from our own home-grown cows, are available at the Campus Dairy in the Turner Building on Route 1 next to the Visitor Center.

25 locations on campus provide 446 PCs, plus CAD terminals and other computer-driven tools for study or research.

35 miles separate the College Park student from Baltimore and the Inner Harbor, one of the great riverfronts in the world.

78 RPM (rubs per minute) is the record high for one of College Park's oldest traditions. It happens during exams, and before football games, when hopeful students give Testudo and his Byrd Stadium twin rubs for good luck.

113 undergraduate majors are available at College Park.

186 stately columns grace the Georgian architecture of our major buildings, among them 40 residence halls providing rooms, suites, or apartments for 8,000 campus residents.

265 student organizations are registered on campus of which all students can participate.

325 classrooms and laboratories set the stage for learning; courses in 110 different major fields of study offer choices and specializations for every interest.

480 student-athletes participate at the NCAA level at College Park. There were 307 men and 173 women who participated at Maryland in 1993-94.

$611 million was the University's operating budget in 1993-94; included was financial aid for some 15,136 students.

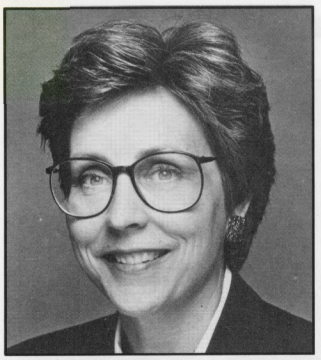
1589 acres of trees, malls, and quiet corners make this campus a beautiful retreat and a self-contained city. With 300 buildings, four theatres, nine restaurants, banks, shops and recreation facilities, the College Park campus is a lively and cosmopolitan community.

8,388 graduate students attended Maryland in 1993-94.

21,781 undergraduates attended Maryland in 1993-94. Undergraduate enrollment was reduced 20% over the past five years to allow College Park to fill its role as the flagship University of the State of Maryland.

3,000,000 books, journals and magazines support students and research in College Park's library system.

4,600,000 items are on microfilm format in the campus libraries.



Deborah A. Yow

Athletic Director

Deborah A. Yow, whose tenure as Athletic Director at Saint Louis University was marked by a commitment to excellence in academics as well as athletics, was named August 15, 1994 to direct the athletic program at the University of Maryland by President William E. Kirwan.

At Saint Louis University, Yow led the effort which enabled the university to achieve a 92% graduation rate for its student athletes. This rate placed Saint Louis 10th among the 300 Division I institutions in percent of student athlete graduations. Yow also brings to her new position an impressive record of athletic success, both as an athletic director and as a basketball coach.

Under Yow's leadership, the Saint Louis University men's basketball program was revitalized. Last year, the team returned to the NCAA Championship for the first time in 37 years. The men's soccer team has been a regular contender for the national championship, winning an unprecedented 10 NCAA titles.

Noted for enormous energy, Yow has increased significantly the marketing, promotion and corporate sponsorship of Saint Louis University's athletic programs. In 1993-94, the Billikens ranked second only to the Razorbacks of Arkansas among all NCAA schools in percentage increase of men's basketball attendance. Yow recently completed negotiations for the men's teams to play their home games at the new Kiel Center - a 21,000 seat basketball and sports complex in Saint Louis.

Prior to becoming an athletic director, Yow had a highly successful career as a women's basketball coach. She was the first coach in NCAA history to lead previously unranked women's teams at three different NCAA Division I schools to top 20 rankings.

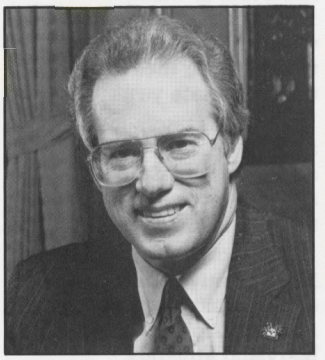
Yow has held positions of increasing importance within the NCAA. Currently, she serves as a member of the NCAA Council, the primary governance body for the NCAA; the Division I Steering Committee; and she chairs the NCAA's Award of Merit Committee. Yow is also a member of the Executive Committee of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics.

In commenting on the appointment, President Kirwan said, "We are very fortunate to have attracted Debbie Yow to this position. She has all the qualities we were looking for — commitment to the highest standards of academic and athletic performance, a proven record in the promotion of intercollegiate athletics, boundless energy, strong management skills, and a position of national leadership on the important issues facing athletics: reform, cost containment, and gender equity."

Yow, 42, becomes the first female athletic director in the Atlantic Coast Conference and one of only 11 of the NCAA Division I status. She has been an athletic administrator for 11 years and the Director of Athletics at Saint Louis University since 1990. Yow began her coaching career at Burlington and Eastern Guilford High Schools in North Carolina. She went to the University of Kentucky in 1976 as the head women's basketball coach, leaving the institution in 1981 to become the head coach at Oral Roberts University. In 1983, she was appointed head coach of women's basketball at the University of Florida. She assumed the position of assistant director of the University of Florida Gator Boosters, Inc. in 1983. From 1987 to 1990, she served as associate athletic director at the University of North Carolina, Greensboro.

Yow earned her bachelor of arts degree in English from Elon College in North Carolina, a masters degree in counseling from Liberty University and a Ph.D. from Baptist Christian University.

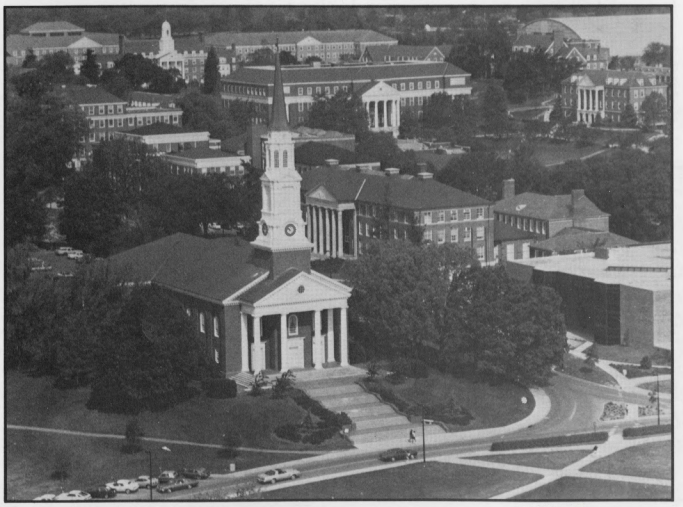
The Gibsonville, North Carolina native is married to Dr. William W. Bowden.



Dr. William E. Kirwan

University President

"We are extremely proud of our field hockey team not only for their success on the playing field but also for their outstanding work in the classroom."



Dr. Suzanne Tyler

Senior Associate Athletic Director

Dr. Suzanne Tyler is at the heart of Maryland athletics. Her 20-year association with the program has seen her serve the department in every fashion imaginable. From coach to administrator to confidante of student-athletes, Tyler envelopes herself in red and white.

When Maryland needed an interim athletic director in 1990 to direct its 23-sport intercollegiate athletic program, Tyler answered the call. She served in that capacity until the arrival of Andy Geiger.

Tyler's success has been extraordinary on both the athletic and academic levels. She is one of only a handful of coaches in history to win NCAA championships in two sports - lacrosse in 1981 and 1986 and field hockey in 1987. Tyler performed double duty for the department in 1990. While serving as the chief athletic department administrator, she led the Terps' women's lacrosse team to the national championship game. She was named lacrosse National Coach of the Year in 1984 and 1986.

Her career reaches in to the academic realm, as well. She has earned honors in each stage of her academic career - as an undergraduate at Northeastern in 1969, in receiving her master's from Penn State in 1972 and her Ph.D. from Maryland in 1986.

Tyler and her husband, Dennis Casey, reside in Beltsville, Md. with their three-year-old son Andrew, and their two-year-old daughter, Alexis.

"The 1993 field hockey team is the best we've ever had. It is the best collegiate team I've ever seen. They executed with skilled precision and with wonderful teamwork."

Academic Support Unit

A successful student almost always equates to a successful athlete. The commitment to academic excellence requires discipline, dedication and motivation. These are the same characteristics needed for an athlete to excel on the field.

The University of Maryland emphasizes the importance of academics in the student-athletes' lives on campus. Striving for success in both the classroom as well as on the field, the athletic department created a program intended to offer both personal and academic development to student-athletes, the Academic Support Unit.

Dr. Javaune Adams-Gaston, educator and clinical psychologist, is the Director of Athletic Student Services. She oversees the student-athletes' educational well-being by her management of the Academic Support Unit. She is assisted by Liz Freidman, John Bowman and Don Pearman.

Friedman works directly with the Terp field hockey team as its academic coordinator to ensure their success in the classroom. Friedman begins her fourth year as a full-time employee in the athletic department after four years of assisting on a part time basis in the ASU. She is a graduate of College Park and a native of Rockville, MD.

In addition to individual academic counseling, each member of the ASU serves the department in other capacities. The staff operates a technological computer room, where student-athletes gain hands-on experience with computer software and hardware systems. The ASU also runs a comprehensive bookroom in which student-athletes can find various text books they will utilize during their undergraduate years.

Over 100 tutors in the ASU assist student-athletes in all areas of study. Student-athletes receive one on one training in any class necessary.

The Academic Support Unit has a positive effect on the athletes and plays an important role in University of Maryland athletics.

ASU offers a variety of programs which include:

- Personal academic assessment.
- Academic advising and counseling.
- Supervised study.
- Learning and study skill programs.
- Group and individual tutoring.
- Computer training and usage.
- Career mentor.
- Summer internships.

"The field hockey players are good, solid students who are able to balance academics and athletics. They are a group of initiators and self-motivators. When they know what has to get done, they do it. Their positive attitudes in the classroom directly correlate to their spirit on the playing field."

— Liz Friedman

Strength and Conditioning

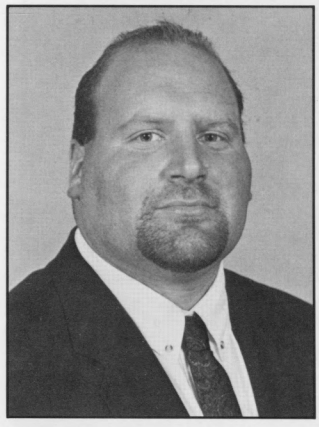
Before the field hockey team can compete at its finest, the strength and conditioning staff prepares the athletes for game day. Proper training in the offseason leads to top performances by individuals and winning records for the team as a whole. The Terrapins utilize the most innovative equipment in strength training with access to a state-of-the-art weight room. This new technology ensures that the athletes are in prime condition to enter competition.

The newest member of the strength and conditioning staff, Assistant Coach Evan Marcus, works closely with the field hockey team to guarantee a successful program.

Marcus worked as a graduate assistant strength coach at Arizona State University in 1991 and 1992. Upon completion of his degree, he was an assistant strength coach at Rutgers University in 1993 and became interim head strength coach until he came to Maryland in 1994.

As an undergraduate athlete at Ithaca College, Marcus achieved All-America status as an offensive tackle in a highly successful football program.

Marcus received his Bachelor's Degree in exercise physiology from Ithaca College in 1990. He earned his Master's of Education in higher education from Arizona State University in 1992.



Evan Marcus

Dwight Galt heads the strength and conditioning staff and runs his office out of the spacious, technological football complex.

Galt has been a member of the Maryland strength and conditioning staff for several years and works primarily with the football team.

Galt was an assistant strength coach at Maryland in 1984 and 1985 and rejoined the staff prior to the 1989 football season. During his career, he has worked extensively with the Washington Capitals of the National Hockey League and was the director of Frank Costello's Elite Training Center for several years.

A graduate of Maryland, Galt received his Bachelor of Science degree in business and management in 1983. He earned his Master's of Science in exercise physiology from Maryland in 1989.

Galt, 36, and his wife Mary Janice have four children.
